THE PRESIDENT: This is an application by the prosecution under Rule 6(b)(1) pertaining to documents 1618, 903, 1124, 891, 9015 and 1458.

MR. LOGAN: No additional excerpts are required from document No. 1618; document No. 903; we would like to have the publisher's note on the outside of the front page.

THE PRESIDENT: You should get that. That is not objected to, I take it.

MR. LOGAN: 1124; no additional excerpts.

Document 891; we would like to have the last pages -- last two pages -- bearing the text of the ratification --

THE PRESIDENT: Of the London Naval Treaty of 1930.

How much are you requiring?

MR. LOGAN: The prosecution is processing 95 pages and we would like to have the last two pages, 96 and 97.

THE PRESIDENT: I suppose there is no objection. Ordered as prayed.

MR. LOGAN: Document 9015; prosecution --

THE PRESIDENT: Have we finished 891, Mr.

MR. LOGAN: Document 9015; prosecution --

THE PRESIDENT: Have we finished 891, Mr.

Logan?

MR. LOGAN: Yes, sir, that is the one I just covered.

THE PRESIDENT: I am sorry.

9015; what have you to say about that?

MR. LOGAN: We would like to have page two processed. Prosecution is processing page one.

THE PRESIDENT: There will be no objection to that page, I take it.

IPS document 1458?

MR. LOGAN: No objection.

THE PRESIDENT: The order will be as prayed with the amendments agreed upon or not objected to.

(Whereupon, at 0902 the proceedings were concluded.)
